Today your Negotiating Team had its first session of Negotiations with the Company. Introductions were made, ground rules were set, and discussions began about the Unions first non-economical proposals.

Things went very smoothly throughout the day, as established in the last negotiations, with emphasis on reviewing new and current language. The meeting ended with discussions on Article 8.

Negotiations will continue tomorrow morning with a presentation, by Danny Holder, concerning the current state of the Company.

We are optimistic with the current flow of negotiations and will continue to push hard to provide you with the best Contract possible.
